Ease of use

With Axor One, all functions are reduced to a central control element that intuitively controls all outlets. Underlying this is the user-friendly Select technology, which is operated by tapping rather than turning. The Select paddles can be mechanically and thereby very precisely controlled.

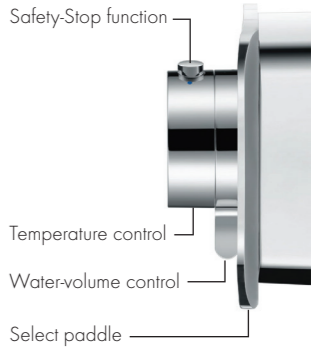

Adjusting the temperature:
The temperature can be precisely controlled with the large, cylindrical handle. The Safety-Stop function limits the temperature to 40°C, and the maximum temperature can be pre-adjusted.

Intuitive operation:
Large symbols indicate which paddle controls which outlet. Every finish set comes with a range of different symbols that can be simply clipped in once the shower has been assembled.

Controlling the volume of water:
Depending on the flow rate and installation situation, the amount of water can be steadily reduced by up to 50% with the water-volume control.

Controlling the outlets
The water can be comfortably turned on and off using the large Select paddles. They can be operated with a tap of a finger, hand or even elbow. The outlets can be activated separately or at the same times.

Axor ShowerSelect thermostatic mixers

The Axor ShowerSelect thermostats turn showering into pure pleasure. The Select technology lets you easily switch the water on and off or choose the spray type you prefer - quite easily at the touch of a button. Thanks to thermostatic technology, the water temperature stays constant even when the water pressures fluctuate. An effective protection against a hot or cold shock. Incidentally, the Axor ShowerSelect thermostats come in three design styles (soft, square and round), which means they can be fitted in every bathroom and can be combined with the majority of the Axor Collections.
